GOD'S LOVE AND BEAUTY

"My Father in Heaven, help me never to forget Thy Love to me. It comes with the light of the morning, and it remains with the light of the stars of the night. It looks up at me in the beauty of the flower. It shines upon me in the smile of a friend. All beautiful things are the gifts of Thy Love. Help me to be thankful, and to link every beautiful thing with Thee. Amen." —John Henry Jowett.

My friends, are these your sentiments? If not, why not?

TO OUR FRIENDS through FLOWERS

GREETINGS: With the new year we delight in extending to you a warm welcome and a hearty hand clasp. It is indeed, with especial pleasure that we hand you our New Flower Book, completely revised. All changes were made in an endeavor to give you an even more readable, informative flower guide than before.

OUR IDEALS:

Over three score years ago, Geo. W. Park, being an ardent lover of flowers, began to save and sell seeds to his friends in the little Pennsylvania community where he lived. His business grew until he could no longer know all of his customers personally, but he considered them all as friends, because they too loved flowers and corresponded with him by mail. This idea of friendship between you, our customers, and us is now a tradition, born and bred into us. We thoroughly appreciate and enjoy the delightful letters of friendship and confidence so many of you send with your orders, and purpose always to give high quality merchandise and guaranteed satisfaction.

The following "added service" is an effort to give you even more satisfaction, and to prove to you that Geo. W. Park Seed Co. is ever endeavoring to give its friends more of the Best, for Less.

ADDED SERVICE:

For those of you whose garden needs require more seeds than the regular 5c packet contains, we are introducing 10c packets which contain $2\frac{1}{2}$ to 3 times as much as do the 5c packets. We are able to make this offer because we save the cost of one packeting operation and pass it on to you, by giving you more seeds for your money.

On Novelties and some of the other especially high priced seeds, a packet containing 6 to 7 times as much as the regular 5c size comes to you for 25c. This plan in no way changes the size nor the quality of the standard 5c packet. You may obtain, as always, the best in seeds of any variety for 5c from PARK.

THE SEED:

Our chief pride is in the quality of the seeds themselves, a quality which has made this company esteemed throughout the nation. All seeds are of the new crop, tested for germination and type to insure your satisfaction. The finer strains are all the growth of famous specialists in England, France, Germany, Holland and America—therefore you get the very best that can be produced throughout the world. We were very lucky to be able to get shipments through from some of these countries this year, although such unhappy conditions exist there. Therefore, in spite of everything, we offer nothing but the best. Every packet that bears the name of Geo. W. Park Seed Co. contains reliable, high class seeds, full of life and vigor. We guarantee our stock, to the extent of the purchase price, to be true to name and sure to grow under favorable conditions.

A FRAGRANT GARDEN

Who can afford to forego the pleasure of beginning a Fragrant Garden, with its magic perfumes which permeate the atmosphere with their exotic charm? At the very thoughts of such a garden, one catches a vision of a medley of blossoms emitting delightful scents wafted softly by balmy mid-summer breezes and made colorful by a flock of dainty gay butterflies and busy bees that will pause momentarily at each blossom to drink deeply of the hidden sweetness within.

We are listing some flowers here that will be valued for both fragrance and beauty, and each will be a worth-while addition to your garden. Regular pkt. 5c; Jumbo pkt. 10c.

SWEET ALYSSUM. A splendid little annual, valued as an edging plant, that will thrive under almost any conditions and produce scented clusters of bloom throughout the season. See page 26.

CLEMATIS PANICULATA is a vine of exceptional beauty. Sow seeds in early Spring, and in three years they will become strong plants covered with dense, pretty foliage and a sheet of lovely star-like blossoms, making the air redolent with their sweet perfume. A splendid vine for a porch trellis or summer house.

DIANTHUS PLUMARIUS. The Grass Pinks or Clove-scented Pinks need no introduction, as all of us remember these spicy blossoms of old-fashioned gardens. They are "must-haves" for every flower-lover. See page 62.

VERBENAS will be most satisfactory plants as they are readily grown from seeds and come quickly into bloom. The bright, showy flowers are borne in abundance the entire season and yield their pungent sweetness generously to add to this pleasure garden. On page 46, you will find the finest varieties of Verbenas listed and we call your special attention to the compact erect type, a splendid new addition, in lovely colors.

A ROSE has no rivals and will always reign as "Queen of the Garden." No other flower gives as much beauty and lasting fragrance or will withstand hardships so well. We urge you to have at least one rose bush in your garden and refer you to the choice named varieties we list on page 24.

HESPERIS MATRONALIS. The lovely and delightfully fragrant Sweet Rocket or Dame's Violet will bloom along with Perennial Phlox, and will prove to be a valuable plant for the garden.

MIGNONETTE starts readily from seeds sown at intervals during Spring and early Summer. The flowers are not showy, but their delightful perfume will fill the garden the entire season. An ounce of the seeds may be bought for only 10c, and they may be sown in odd places throughout the garden to give an abundance of fragrant bloom.

Seeds of the compact varieties, sown in summer, will give plants that may be potted for winter flowers.

PETUNIAS will grace any garden. They are more easily grown, will bear more neglect, and will give more beauty and sweetness than almost any other flower. The common compact hybrids should be planted in masses or borders, and their wealth of bloom and perfume will be enjoyed until heavy frosts. See page 14.

SWEET PEAS are valued highly as cut-flowers, since they come into bloom so early and possess an unsurpassed wealth of color and fragrance to enhance the charm of your garden. See page 18.

TWILIGHT GEMS

In the quiet of the evening, the exquisite perfume of a fragrant garden will be most delightful. For a showy, sweet-scented evening flower bed, plant a clump of Nicotiana Affinis Hybrida Grandiflora and surround it with a ring of Matthiola Bicornis (the Evening-scented Stock) and Nycteria Selaginoides.

The Datura is a fascinating group of plants bearing large trumpet-shaped blossoms which open, as if by magic, in late evening and pour forth their wealth of heavy fragrance into the garden. See page 33.

Hebenstretia Comosa is a rare, sweet annual which fills the garden with a delicious nutty scent on warm summer evenings. The flowers are white with blotches of bright orange-scarlet, and are produced upon long spikes.

All of these flowers will yield a continuous display throughout the season, and keep the evening and night air redolent with their delightful perfume.

MID-WINTER FRAGRANCE

When the outside world is bleak and stripped of its summer verdure, your windows may be filled with the beauty and fragrance of many lovely plants.

CARNATIONS are perfect pot plants for winter blossoms. The improved strains we offer will bloom in six months from seeds, and will produce gorgeous, big sweet blossoms in the most beautiful colors. See page 30.

FREESIAs are as easily raised from seeds as Zinnias, and if sown in Spring will produce plants that will bloom the following Winter. Their delightful fragrance is unsurpassed by any other flower. See page 68.

PARISIAN WALLFLOWERS make splendid Winter-blooming plants in a window where they will be kept cool and moist. The flowers are produced in showy, scented spikes of various bright colors and develop continuously, giving a fine display throughout the winter months.

STOCKS. Seeds of these splendid annuals will produce fine plants to pot for Winter blossoms. Give them rich, porous soil, plenty of water and good drainage. The bloom-spikes are bright, colorful and deliciously fragrant.

BULBS—Bulbs such as Hyacinths, Narcissus, Daffodils and Tulips, which we offer in the Fall, are "must-haves" for a Winter window garden. These are all quickly and very easily grown and are valued for their beauty and sweetness.

Plan your Fragrant Gardens now, and you will thank us for having made these suggestions.

Last Nov. I planted 4 seeds of Heavenly Blue Ipomea in sunny window; they began blooming in Jan., having 6-17 flrs. a day. Later planted outside, the same vines bloomed until frost. Dec. 12, 1939. Mrs. A. L. Weddel, Mich.

IPOMEA CLARK'S MAMMOTH BLUE MORNING GLORY. The very earliest flowering of the mammoth type. Flowers not quite as large, nor do they remain open as late in the day as "Heavenly Blue Improved," but a gorgeous, free-blooming "Glory" of celestial blue, shading to a delightful golden yellow throat. 15 seeds 5c; 1/16 oz. 10c; 1/4 oz. 30c.

IPOMEA SCARLETT O'HARA—1938 GOLD MEDAL WINNER. The latest Novelty Morning Glory, Scarlett O'Hara is a graceful, fast-growing vine, bearing the large, gorgeous, rich deep wine-red flowers in abundance all summer, becoming more lovely as the season advances. On sunny days the flowers remain open until nearly noon; on cloudy or rainy days until sunset. There are few plants requiring so little care and affording so much colorful beauty. Be sure to include Scarlett O'Hara in your garden plans this season. The only Gold Medal Winner in three years. 8 seeds 5c; 60 seeds 25c; 1/8 oz. 40c.

IPOMEA CORNELL. Robust growth and extra large 4-4 1/2 inch flowers of an intense carnelian red with an eighth inch border of glistening white which gives the flower particular distinction. Free blooming and splendid. 10 seeds 5c; 1/8 oz. 25c.

IPOMEA ALAMO (Mile-a-Minute Vine). This little Morning Glory is very fast growing and thrives exceedingly well in a hot dry situation. CARDINAL CLIMBER (Ipomoea quamoclit Sileri), 30 ft. Originated by Logan Soter through crossing of the Cypress Vine and Star Ipomea, this glorious, quick-growing, free-flowering annual climber is breathtaking in beauty. The attractive fern-like foliage forms a decorative background for the clusters of white-throated, tubular, brilliant cardinal flowers. Needs good soil and sunny location. 20 seeds 5c; 50 seeds 10c.

Note: When planting Ipomoea, select dry sandy location and do not fertilize unless heavy foliage is desired. If sown in the open ground, wait until soil has thoroughly warmed up. If started indoors for earlier plants, use tiny individual pots and transplant without disturbing the roots. Soak seeds to facilitate and hasten germination.

For a full selection of choice Ipomoeas, see Page 75.

Dear Sirs: Every seed of my Scarlett O'Hara packet came up and the vine has been marvelous; often 40 or 50 blossoms open in one day. All of your seeds have been so satisfactory. Nov. 20, 1939 Miss Idabel Haas, Muskingum County, Ohio.

The Heavenly Blue Glories were lovely all last winter in window. Dec. 12, 1939 Mrs. H. H. Reeder, Iowa.

PARK'S FLORAL MAGAZINES

From our most highly prized possessions, the priceless bound volumes of the little Magazine originated, edited and published for 48 years by our beloved founder, we take pleasure in preparing these two pages. Throughout the years, its articles have been cherished and handed down to the coming generations, and we are proud to offer you a few of these valued favorites.

NOLANA. The best species of Nolana is N. Atriplicifolia, which is a prostrate hardy annual suitable for edgings, rock-work and baskets. The flowers are shaped like a small Morning Glory, mostly blue with a white center. Sow the seeds early where the plants are to bloom, as transplanting is difficult. An open, sunny place will insure a thrifty growth and a fine display of flowers.

ICE PLANT. This is known as Mesembrianthemum Crystallinum. It has broad succulent foliage thickly covered with crystal-like protuberances of various sizes. It is a basket or pot plant that is much admired, and is easily grown from seeds. The flowers are small and the plant is chiefly valued for its foliage.

SAPONARIA OCYMOIDES.

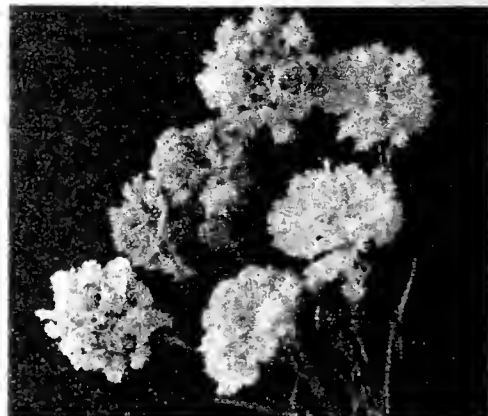

Most of those who read the Floral Magazine know the hardy old-fashioned flower commonly called "Bouncing Bet", a hardy perennial found in many places by the roadside. That is Saponaria Officinalis, the tops of which, when beaten, will form a lather and can be used instead of soap for cleansing purposes. It bears clusters of light pink flowers throughout the season, and is useful for planting along embankments or streams to prevent damage in time of floods. A very much more handsome and desirable perennial, however, is Saponaria Ocymoides. Like its more common relative, it is perfectly hardy and of the easiest culture. Like it, too, the young plants are easily started from seeds sown during the Spring or Summer, and will bloom freely the following season. This beautiful Saponaria is of trailing habit, and well adapted for planting upon old walls or for decorating rocks and barren places, as it will grow in poor, dry soil and endure hardships that would kill many other plants. For the cemetery, it is very desirable, the delicate pink clusters appearing in glorious masses during May and June and usually at their best about Decoration Day. As a border plant, and for massing in neglected places, there is certainly no flower more desirable. Once started, the plants will take care of themselves and reveal their charming beauty regularly every season. This Saponaria is an alpine plant from the mountains of Italy and Switzerland. It should be an indispensable flower in every perennial collection.

FOR DENSE SHADE. If you have a densely shaded spot where scarcely anything will grow, plant there a group of Caladium esculentum (Elephant's Ears). The more dense the shade, the better will this huge-leaved tropical plant grow. When the weather is warm and the plant growing freely, give it plenty of water, using liquid fertilizer occasionally, and the enormous size and beauty of the leaves will surprise you. For carpeting the ground beneath these plants, sow seeds of Kenilworth Ivy (Linaria cymbalaria). These two plants thrive well where the sun's rays are entirely excluded.

COLLINSIA BICOLOR. A beautiful hardy perennial from California is Collinsia Bicolor, which has been in cultivation since 1833, but is not so well known as it justly deserves. The plants grow a foot high, bearing downy, erect, branching stems, sparingly clothed with delicate foliage, the tips set with whorls of exquisite little snapdragon-like flowers, the upper lip and tube white, the lower rosy-purple. The culture of this annual is simple. The seeds may be sown in a sheltered bed in Autumn and the plants given some special protection if the climate is very cold. Plants thus grown will flower during the spring and early summer, while the weather is cool and moist, and make a fine show in the garden. In the Southern States the seeds should be invariably sown in Autumn and in the warmer sections the blooming period will be during the Winter. At the north most persons sow the seeds early in the Spring. The plants then bloom later, but if the season is favorable the flowers afford an admirable show.

OLD-FASHIONED PINK. What is variously known as the old-fashioned Garden Pink, Clove Pink, Grass Pink, May Pink and Pheasant's Eye Pink is an early-flowering deliciously-scented Dianthus growing from 8 to 12 inches high and blooming profusely, the flowers being both plain and fringed and mostly flesh-white to carmine, with a dark zone or eye. Seedling plants begin to bloom the second season, and, being hardy, they stool out, becoming a mat of narrow, dense, grass-like foliage, especially fitting it for borders and edgings. Of late years, improvements have been made in the range of colors, in size and form of flowers, as well as in protracting the blooming period. The newer varieties are especially desirable and deserve a place in every perennial garden.

Regular pkt. 5c. Jumbo pkt. 10c.

GEO. W. PARK SEED COMPANY

The California Tree Poppy, Romneya Coulteri

Romneya Coulteri is a beautiful herbaceous perennial from California belonging to the Poppy Family. The plants attain the height of from 3 to 6 ft. when of blooming age, and the numerous branches terminate in poppy-like flowers of great size, measuring from 15 to 18 inches in circumference, rich satin-white with an attractive bright orange center. The foliage is a glaucous green, finely cut, and is, alone, very handsome. It forms a lovely background for the large, beautiful flowers which are produced during the summer.

Romneya Coulteri is a Monotypic genus, found along streams near San Diego, California. In America, it is very satisfactory, the plants being easily grown from seeds. They grow well in pots if shifted as soon as they need more root-room. A frame or pit will protect them in winter at the North, but further South they need no protection. The plants thrive in rich, sandy, well-drained soil. Seedlings started in the spring are easily transferred to pots to winter and can be bedded out in Spring. If the smaller buds are removed, leaving only the larger, terminal buds, the flowers developed will be of immense size and great beauty.

Romneya Coulteri

DISH-CLOTH OR BATH SPONGE GOURD. These are the common names of Luffa, a robust vine belonging to the Gourd family, bearing rather handsome foliage and large, showy, golden flowers succeeded by long, ribbed, club-like fruits. The seeds are almost as large as those of a watermelon, and when they turn black, the Gourd may be taken off and thrown in water until the pulp dissolves, then the net-work is washed for use in household economy or for fancy work. For the latter, bleaching is necessary to give it the desirable white color. In sanitariums, this vegetable net-work is often used to scrub the body and promote friction, being used as bath mittens worn by the attendants. The vines are easily grown from seeds.

THE VIRGINIAN

STOCK is known botanically as Malcolmia Maritima, a native of Europe near the Mediterranean Sea. The genus embraces twenty or more species, mostly annuals, but the only one in common culture is M. Maritima or the Virginian Stock, which is a very pretty, free-blooming annual, showy in garden beds, and excellent for window pots.

Virginian Stock

The flowers have four petals and are of various colors from pure white to deep crimson. The plants appear to the best advantage when grown in masses, and to do this the seeds should be sown in rows five inches apart and the plants thinned out where they seem too thick in the bed. Sown in early Spring, the plants will bloom well during the Summer. Started in June, they will make a fine display in Autumn, the cool weather apparently developing the plants and flowers to perfection. A dozen plants in a six-inch pot become a grand mass of bloom in a cool room, and if the dark, rich-colored varieties are grown in this way, the effect is very striking.

ARABIS ALPINA is a hardy perennial of rare beauty, blooming early in spring. The flowers are white or rose, in clusters, and remain in bloom for several weeks. The plants are easily grown from seeds, and are especially desirable for growing in crevices of rocks upon the north side where they are not liable to be injured from the hot sun. In a well-drained garden bed, however, they thrive and make a fine display, appearing as a sheet of bloom shortly after the snow has disappeared. The plants are not particular as to soil, growing either in a sandy situation or in loam or clay. A good, porous soil, however, is preferable, and they should stand from 6 to 8 inches apart in a bed. They improve with age under favorable conditions, and each plant will become a handsome strong clump of pretty foliage which is much admired throughout the Summer and Autumn, after the flowers have faded. It is a perennial that should be found in every garden.

LUNARIA BIEN-

NIS is a very desirable hardy biennial, readily propagated from seeds and easily cultivated. It grows from a foot to two feet in height, and bears in the Spring large clusters of showy flowers not unlike Sweet Rocket in general appearance and emitting a delicious odor. Started in early Spring, the seedlings will bloom in the Autumn, but the better time to sow is in July or August. The young plants will then endure the Winter and bloom freely the following season. The flowers are succeeded by the large silvery seed pods which are as showy and as much admired as the flowers, and when cut are fine for Winter ornaments. On account of these curious seed vessels, the plant is often called "Silver Leaf". Its more common name, however, is "Honesty".

A Handsome Biennial

BIENNIALS AND PERENNIALS

These are valuable subjects of the flower garden, as most of them are not only showy and beautiful when in bloom, but will do service year after year for a long period, enduring cold, excessive rain and drouth, regardless of neglect and improper attention. They are easily grown from seeds, except a few which are tardy and will lie dormant in the ground for several months, or a year or two, before germinating. All are readily transplanted, and will generally thrive in the soil and exposure of an ordinary garden. When you make out your order, do not forget to select a few perennials. Once started, they will afford you as much satisfaction and pleasure as anything that you can grow. Directions for making outdoor beds and sowing seeds are sent with each package. Regular pkt. 5c. Jumbo pkt. 10c.

ADONIS VERNALIS. Among plants suitable for Spring gardening, none, perhaps, excels the charming Spring Adonis Vernalis, represented in the illustration. GREENWOOD, SOUTH CAROLINA

This picture is made from an actual snapshot sent us from one of our patron-friends, Mr. Farr, of Okmulgee County, Oklahoma.

These interesting comments, taken from an article in his local newspaper, show that his community recognizes and appreciates his valuable contribution to flower-gardening:

"A garden in which the varieties of flowers reach into the hundreds, and a rock garden and fish pond that would do credit to a huge estate are the accomplishments of Mr. James M. Farr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Farr, who makes of gardening and landscaping a hobby and a pastime."

It is possible for you to achieve such success with good seeds, time, patience and loving care.

Water Garden and Rock Garden Notes

The combination of a pool and rock garden is a delight in contemplation and a joy complete in reality. Either or both lend themselves to much variety in plan and choice of plants and, therefore, encourage ingenuity and originality in the gardener. These gardens need not be expensive. Those living in the country have the advantage, often, of a stream that may be utilized by backing up the water into a quiet nook and there making a beauty spot.

We list a fine assortment of aquatics upon page 73. Upon this same page also is a splendid collection of Ornamental Grasses, a number of which will lend background and add beauty to this type of garden. One portion of your Rock Garden may be set aside for many of the culinary and medicinal garden herbs as listed upon page 71. These will not only add to the attractive appearance of your garden, but will be of practical value.

Below are listed a group of Alpine annuals and perennials which may be found in the body of the catalogue.

INDEX AND GERMINATION TABLE

WHEN sowing seeds it is always best to divide the packets and sow at different times. Note the time and give good care until the plants have had time to appear. Figures here indicate pages, and letters indicate, as per key, the time needed for germination. Do not condemn seeds until you have given them at least two or three trials. Those marked z will often lie dormant for a year or more. Seeds of Trees and Shrubs should be sown in a retired bed which will not be disturbed for two or three years. Some will start in a reasonable time and can be removed. Germination, however, is variable and more or less tardy.

SELECT GLADIOLUS BULBS

We offer a choice selection of the finest named Gladiolus; large, clean, healthy bulbs, free from insects and disease, sure to bloom and guaranteed to give satisfaction. All No. 1 bulbs—1½" and up.

We pay all postage and warrant the safe arrival of the bulbs. When received, plant them five inches deep in a sunny bed of rich, porous garden soil and mulch the bed with well decayed stable litter; this will promote a vigorous growth and bloom and keep the soil moist during a moderate drouth. Cultivate often, especially after each rain. Choose yours.
